Announce Forthcoming Marriage of Popular Young People

Last night the marriage of Miss Clara Harmon, of this city, was announced to Mr. Willis, of Washington, N. C. at a dinner at the Elwood hotel. Sixteen of the personal friends of the bride were present. During the course of the splendid repast prepared by J. Lewis Woodson, "a Birthday Cake" was placed in the center of the table surrounded by the friends of Miss Harmon. On this cake were a number of candles representing the years of age of this young lady. Miss Harmon was asked to "blow out" the candles or as many as possible, as is customary and while so doing, Ed. Ragan, uncle of Miss Harmon, withdrew from under the cake a large bow of ribbon, with the words Willis-Harmon. Then R. R. Ragan, another uncle, withdrew a large bow on which was printed in gold, October 20th, 1915. A pleasant surprise to all the guests.

CITIZENS INVITED BY CITY TO IMPROVE THE STREETS

DOINGS OF CITY COUNCIL

Tuesday night the City Council met in regular session, S. L. Davis acting mayor, in absence of W. P. Pickett.

Chief Ingram went before Board and asked that the city purchase a pool table and furniture for the club room of the North Side Company. The matter of selling the horses and wagons of this company and purchasing a motor truck was discussed, former matter being left with the city manager Lyon and the latter to the councilmen to investigate.

The Councilmen stated that the city was ready to do street work when petitioned according to law--60 per cent of the property owners of any block signing a petition desiring improvements--they to stand their part of the cost.

Manager Lyon will investigate the matter of buying a motor truck to spread gravel.

A Wilmington firm agrees to give the city 100 tons of gravel as a sample and the Southern Railway agrees to haul it to High Point if placed on Broad street leading to depot. Accepted. The Carolina and Yadkin River Ry Co., will furnish several cars of gravel also to be placed on street leading to its depot.

There was some discussion over who should pay Dr. D. A. Stanton, as register of vital statistics. No action taken.

A GAS WAGON FULL OF MISERY DROPS PINCHED

JOHN WADE NABBED FRIDAY

With a quantity of whiskey which he was proceeding to hand out in jugs to parties, there for the purpose, John Wade was arrested along the High Point-Greensboro road, near Jamestown, Friday evening by Deputies Shaw, Weatherly, Hobbs, Clark and Ingram. A negro was captured with the goods which Wade had handed him from his automobile, but five white men escaped. Two horses and twelve gallons of whiskey were taken in hand, besides Wade and his auto. The whiskey crowd was too large for the officers to successfully cope with, hence most of them got away. Wade and the negro were placed in jail, the former failing at the time to furnish bail. The officers have been after Wade for sometime, in fact he was under promise to quit selling whiskey.

BETTER ROADS PROMISED

Through the efforts of County Commissioner W. C. Jones and on account of the justness of the cause, the County Commissioners have decided to build two miles of splendid macadam road, from both the Greensboro and High Point ends, of the same construction as some of the fine streets in Greensboro. This will be followed up each year with a like number of miles until the whole road will be an ideal one, which will take about three years on account of financial matters. The road between High Point and Archdale will be well graveled also, all this work to be completed before cold weather sets in and will cost approximately $25,000.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN

(By W. H. Dugdale)

Amid the busy whirl of trade, its turmoil and its strife, We seek for an existence and a long and happy life; We seldom stop to reckon at the setting of the sun, We're one day nearer to the grave than when we first begun.

Each man will take his place in line and try to do his share, Just how the other fellow gets along, he has never a care; If fortune smiles upon him, and when his labor's done, He'll discover by his efforts he's the man behind the gun.

No man has yet succeeded who lags behind the rest, To forge ahead and take a chance is certainly the best; Just try and hit the target, as many men have done, You may score a hit and make it, be the man behind the gun.

In time of war when nations fight, ambition leads this van, The call to arms will bring response and courage with each man; It makes no difference who you are, a rich or poor man's son, The man that's most important, is the man behind the gun.

His eye is bright, his senses keen, with strong and steady nerves, He nobly does his duty, in any cause he serves; He stands the test of battle and when the fighting's done, You will have to give the credit, to the man behind the gun.

There are guns in other places, besides in war and strife, Each man has got a weapon he can stand behind for life; When life's great battle's over, what good things have you done, What have you left to mark you, as the man behind the gun?
